Letters from Hermanstad in Transilvania of the 21st of September, advise, That on Intelligence of the Approach to Transilvania of the Body of Imperial Troops commanded by Field-Marshal Count Rabutin, the Rebels broke up the Blockade of Hermanstad, and retir'd to the Mountains. By Letters of a fresher Date from General Rabutin, we have receiv'd the following Particulars of his Arrival in Transilvania with the Forces he commands.

'A Journal of the March of the Body of Imperial Troops under Count Rabutin, into Transilvania, from the 22d of September to the 7th of October.

The 22d of September we were joynd by Colonel Tockely a Rascian, with a Body of Men of his Nation; and our Army encamp'd that Day within half a League of the Village of Szeber. The 23d we march'd to Restatzki, and halted there the 24th for the coming up of our Carriages and Baggage: In the mean time 300 Foot supported by 300 Horse, were sent out to even the Ways and enlarge them, and to level 2 Intrenchments made by the Enemy; which was done without any Opposition. The 25th we march'd to Aho, where we halted the 26th; and in the mean time sent Men to clear the Ways as the Day before. We observ'd on our Arrival at Aho, that there had been very newly a Camp there of 2000 Horse. Colonel Tockely was immediately sent in Quest of them as far as Halmagi, but he could not find any of them: In his Return he discover'd a Body of Peasants intrench'd not far from us, and offer'd them the Emperour's Amnesty, but they refus'd it; on his Report of which, our General commanded him the 26th at Noon, with several Hundred Rascians and 200 Germans to endeavour to surprize them: In the Evening he advanc'd to the Place, but found the Peasants had fled away in Time: He took 2 Walachian Priests, and brought them in with him; they reported that the foresaid 2000 Horse were commanded by General Peckry, who had advanc'd to Aho the 24th, to get Intelligence of the March of our Army, and the same Day retir'd with all Expedition towards Sa-lackna and Abruckbania. The 27th we encamp'd not far from Halmagi; The 28th near Ribiza; and the 29th beyond the Pass of Formadia: During our March thither, our advanc'd Guards gave Notice that they had discover'd a Party of the Enemy of 300 Horse; and Colonel Tockely was detach'd to attack them, which he did with such Vigour, that the Enemy were broken in the first Charge, 100 were kill'd on the Spot, and some Prisoners were taken, with a Standard and 150 odd Horses; the rest escap'd. Colonel Tockely brought in with him the Horse of Stephen Raz, who commanded the Enemy's Party, and was Slain. The Prisoners reported, that the Enemy had laid a Design to attack our Baggage near a Bridge in a narrow Passage, where only one Waggon could pass at a time, and that this Enterprize was to be executed by 1500 Men of their best Troops, supported by 3000 others. One of the Prisoners being sent with a Detachment of our Men, shew'd them the Bridge; and thereupon Major-General Count Graven began to make the necessary Dispositions for forcing our Passage at our coming up; but the Enemy observing him, and finding their Design was known, quitted their Ground and march'd off. The 30th we continu'd at Formadia, to wait the coming up of our Baggage with their Guard. The 1st of October we continu'd our March to the River Maros and encamp'd not far from Salmos in sight of Deva, a strong Castle in the Mountains at the Entrance into Transilvania, of which the Enemy were inform'd by the Parties they had posted on the Tops of the Mountains. And thus, God be Thanked, the small Body of Troops under Count Rabutin arriv'd at Deva, after 31 painful Marches from Javarino, almost without Loss, having pass'd the Danube, the Tibiscus, and lastly a Chain of Mountains render'd very difficult by the Enemy's Intrenchments and the narrow Ways. In the Afternoon M. Koben, Captain in the Regiment of Paltz, and Governour of Deva, came to our Camp, and acquainting the General, that the Enemy had on the News of his approach rais'd the Blockade of Deva, and that his Garrison was reduc'd to the last Extremity for want of Provisions, his Excellency caus'd Stores to be put into the Place sufficient for several Days: And having caus'd some Bread to be bak'd there, he pass'd the Maros the 3d, and encamp'd at Keriskir near the River Strell, where he halted the 4th. The 5th Major General Baron Tige sent advice to our General, that he was advanc'd to meet him as far as Petersdorf near Millenbach, and that he was about to march again to approach nearer to him, because he had learnt by some Deserters that Count Caroli had joynd General Peckry at Divis, and that they had resolv'd to pass the Maros to attack the 3000 Men which he (Baron Tige) was bringing from Hermanstad. Upon this Intelligence, General Rabutin, having first put more Provisions into Deva, and also re-victall'd Huniad which was in extreme Want, march'd to meet Major General Tige, and that Day at 4 in the Afternoon, they joynd to their mutual great Joy and encamp'd near Puscky. The 6th the Army encamp'd at Vinlenz: In our march thither, some Deserters came over to us, and also an Officer nam'd Kilosy of the Regiment of Ragotski, who upon Examination taken by the Rebels why their Troops did not attack our Baggage at the Bridge abovemention'd, was with some others condemn'd to Death, but luckily found means to make his escape. All these Deserters reported, that Count Caroli and General Peckry were joynd within a League of Eniet, and had under their Command
